MEN WHO DID WORK

That Elected Republicans in Third Ward, Democrat Says Were Independent Voters

The following communication from one who signs himself A Third Ward Democrat was received at The Courier office this morning,

Editor Daily Courier Just let me say that our friends C Tyson Hyde Rush and Marcus Martin were given great praise for their hard work in making the Block Third Republican

Neither of the gentlemen had very much to do with it and Mr Martin did nothing The men who did the trick did not do not I and a good many Democrats in the third but a number of them were voting for what they felt was for the best interest of the people We should stop such personal petty spite We think men are elected to office to serve the people and on to keep in office let them do so in the future and live up to the standard and be faithful to their duties or be put out and by his best and let the majority rule

Don't be foolish enough to think that the result of yesterday is any criterion of what will happen this fall

Former Governor Pennypacker Turned Into Witness for State

IN THE CAPITOL GRAFT TRIAL.

Denied That There Was Conspiracy to Defraud the State and That He Had Any Knowledge of Efforts to Cover Matters Up

United Press Telegram

HARRISBURG Feb 20—Turning former Governor Pennypacker into a State witness against Sanderson and others on the graft trial Attorney Scarlet spent hundreds of questions in an animation today He was far from proving a satisfactory witness for the defense by which he was called as had been expected But this was not enough for Attorney Scarlet He asked hundreds of questions in an effort to secure additional facts from him in the support of the States charge that four men conspired to defraud the Government

Former Governor Pennypacker absolutely denied that there had been any attempt to cover the capitol scandal He also denied that he assisted in the preparation of Houston's letter to former Attorney General Carson and declared that he knew nothing of such a letter until he read about the matter during the course of the present trial

HEAVY DOG TAX

Was Proposed by Commissioner M E Townsend But Associates Opposed It

It now develops that there was an interesting discussion of the dog tax question among the County Commissioners when the matter of fixing the millage for 1908 and the various tax items was under discussion before them a few days ago The millage was fixed at four mills the same as for the past four years without any difference of opinion but there was a division when the dog tax was brought up

The dog tax has been 50 cents for dogs and $1 for females M E Townsend, Chairman of the Board advocated an increase in the tax of $2 50 on dogs and $5 for the females contending that some means were necessary to induce owners to dispose of worthless curs and to secure additional funds so the county may more promptly meet sheep claims

Sheep claims have been mounting steadily It is stated that the sheep claims now amount to about $7 000 against the county and Townsend's contention was that the dog tax should be made great enough to protect the farmers and to afford the Commissioners an opportunity to pay all sheep claims promptly Another argument put forward by Townsend was that the higher the dog tax it would greatly decrease the number of worthless dogs in the county and would thus reduce the danger of sheep killing

However opposite views were entertained by John S Graham and A J Stentz They claimed that the present tax was sufficient and the vote for the present tax stood two to one

AN INVESTIGATION.

Congressman Huff Has Much Data for Mining Committee

Special to The Courier

WASHINGTON Feb 20—Col Leo L Huff Chairman of the House Committee on Mines and Mining is preparing to conduct an inquiry through his committee to determine if possible the cause of the recent mine disasters in Pennsylvania and West Virginia H M Taylor of the Pittsburg Coal Company and Chairman of the Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators has written to Col Huff asking that the committee postpone consideration of the subject until after the joint meeting of the operators and miners in Indianapolis the latter part of February After this will ask to be heard before any committee

There is pending before the House a resolution authorizing the Committee on Mines and Mining to make an exhaustive investigation of mining conditions and the causes of disasters and clothing it with the power to subpoena witnesses and appropriating money to cover the expenses But the Rules Committee is not convinced that this is a subject which the Federal government can deal to any great extent rather inclining to the view that it is solely a state matter However the House Committee proposes to go ahead even if not given the power to send for persons and papers and collect what information it can

There are now before the Committee several bills providing for the establishment of a Bureau of Mines and Mining creating commissions to investigate and for other purposes and in the consideration of the measures the committee will hear all who come to come forward with facts and theories bearing upon the subject of safety of mining

No one is expected to make an instructed delegation to the Republican National Convention. The delegates will be expected to support Speaker Cannon for the presidential nomination.

The next 60 days will witness the choice of several hundred delegates to the National Convention by State and district conventions throughout the country. The rules for the election of a convention in quite detail will be sent out by the National committee.

With the exception of the Indiana and Illinois Democrats all other delegations have worked themselves into a position where they can be counted on to be in April 2 the Southern States May 10 the Republicans in Chicago June 16 the Democrats in Denver July 7 and the Prohibitionists in Columbus July 15.

With practically all of the present State officers up for re-election this year will be a campaign in Connecticut in which the United States Senate City will probably be present by Senator Wright. The headquarters of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee will be located in Chicago instead of in Washington, which city the last campaign was conducted.

The apportionment of delegates for the coming Democratic National Convention makes a slow increase in representation of the Philippine Islands but gives a larger representation than the Republicans to the District of Columbia Hawaii and Porto Rico.

THURSDAY EVE'G., FEB. 20, 1908.

DON'T FAVOR GREATER CONNELLSVILLE.

The Uniontown Standard interprets the defeat of the proposed New Haven bond issue to mean that New Haven does not want consolidation with Connellsville. These Uniontown newspapers are not in favor of the consolidation proposition. They know that Greater Connellsville will be Fayette county's greatest municipality, and that Uniontown will have to yield its claim to first place, a claim which has no foundation and which leans upon the court house for support.

The population claims of the Uniontown newspapers, like the circulations claims of certain of them, are vague, uncertain, unproven and unprovable. They are saturated with sinful environment which finds its most common expression in "bluff."

The New Haven bond vote was not a fair test of consolidation sentiment. The former was collateral, but not conclusive; the latter is another proposition.

FAYETTE COUNTY'S GREATEST BLUFFER.

The Uniontown Genius has had a great deal to say about circulation liars recently. We find the following in its columns: "The Evening Genius has the largest circulation of any evening paper in Fayette county and is acknowledged to be the best advertising medium in the evening field."

This is a deliberate falsehood from beginning to end. The Genius has not "the largest circulation of any evening paper in Fayette county," and it is not, at least not generally, "acknowledged to be the best advertising medium in the evening field."

Does The Genius want to bet that it isn't a circulation liar?

Will The Genius compare circulations with The Courier?

Loud claims and lurid language do not make circulation. The Courier does not indulge in either. It sets forth its actual figures each day and is prepared to verify them. It is the only newspaper in Fayette county that has the courage to do so. It has the courage to do so because it has the circulation.

Its challenges for investigation and comparison with other newspapers have failed to materialize simply because papers like The Genius have been bluffing and can't show up.

The Courier has the goods and it gives full value for the money.

The Aldrich Currency bill has the earnest support of J. Pierpont Morgan. Perhaps that's the trouble.

Mount Pleasant burglars are so ambitious that they do not wait for nightfall and the cover of darkness under which to begin observations. They are on the day turn.

The anthracite mine disaster turned out more lucky than most accidents like this.

The Interstate Railway Commission reports the railroads to be improving in deportment.

It begins to look as if there will be no Currency bill passed this session. The gulf between the Senate and the lamp. Everything must wait on a Presidential campaign. This is one of the penalties of a republican government.

Taft is rounding up the Yankees in New England, but Foraker is capturing some of the Solid South.

The burning of the Dunbar lock-up was unfortunate, but another and a better one will probably be built. It's an ill fire that works no good.

The burglars have extended their operations to South Connellsville. The fact presents a strong argument for annexation.

The value to a town of diversified industries is illustrated in numerous communities just now.

The Waynesburg Messenger urges the people to go to the "polls." That's a long journey. Even the earth-girdling autoists won't undertake it.

Some horses refuse to be stolen.

We are all more or less ignorant the law, but even the foreigners soon learns all about the law of damages, after he has consulted a lawyer.

A GOTHAM VIEW

Of the Town Which is Second to It as a Money Power.

New York Herald.

Pittsburg was founded for the benefit of the Magee and Ellan families, but despite this fact it has produced Andrew Carnegie and prepared William Ellis Corey for his New York debut.

The heiress is one of Pittsburg's chief products. Titled foreigners bless the day that golden laden soot and smudge began to settle over the spot where the waters of the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers commingle to form the Ohio.

The phrase, "Money talks," was coined soon after Pittsburg was put on the map. Pittsburg's cash can be heard across the Atlantic wherever a coronet is weighted down with a mortgage.

Until Pittsburg grew sufficiently to warrant supporting a political boss, Tweed was looked up to as a model. But Pittsburg studied his methods and improved on them, until nowadays they make the city borrow money when there isn't enough cash in the treasury.

A favorite pastime is to change the form of the city government whenever somebody plugs up the leaks and gets all the graft.

When anything is found the finder says: "This must belong to the railroad."

The only exception was when Pittsburg wanted to make Allegheny its Brooklyn. Allegheny citizens said they owned their city, but Pittsburg wouldn't listen to foolish talk, and now Allegheny's taxes are higher.

In one thing Pittsburg has been maligned. It is not a city of hard drinkers. Residents tried for years to drink the city water, but they had to add liquors to thin it down for potable purposes.

Pittsburg always has supplies on hand for the making of another trust, thus keeping the millionaire output up to the standard.

This city is the home of antiques. When a Pittsburger comes across some rare art object, age yellowed, he writes his check and the collector makes him one just like it.

Pittsburg is up to date in its sensations. The Biddle brothers followed Bertha Beilstein, and the Violet Bride and Hartje divorce cases compare favorably with New York's best. Pittsburg could claim the Thaw case, but it isn't selfish.

This is the only authentic history of Pittsburg in which the phrase Smoky City is not used.

DIED OF GRIP.

Michael Volinsky, Aged 30 Years, a Hotel Clerk of Fitzhenry, Pa, Funeral Tomorrow.

Michael Volinsky, aged 30 years, clerk at the Hotel Henry at Fitzhenry, Westmoreland county, died last night at his late residence at Fitzhenry, of the grip. The body will be brought here tomorrow morning on B. & O. train No. 48 and taken to the Polish church in New Haven, where requiem high mass will be celebrated. Mr. Volinsky was born and reared at Broad Ford, at which place he was yard boss for the H. C. Frick Coke Company for a number of years. He was also butcher for the Union Supply Company at Broad Ford, and at one time was yard boss for the Bessemer Coke Company at Bessemer. About seven weeks ago he contracted a severe cold which developed into grip. Thinking he had entirely recovered, Mr. Volinsky returned to his duties. He suffered a relapse, which resulted in his death. He is survived by his widow and two children. The following brothers and sisters also survive: Charles, Arthur, John, Helen, Frances and Mrs. Stella Salesky.

LASTED MANY YEARS.

Modern Work on Lock No. 1 Compared With That at Building.

Question: If the old Lock No. 1 on the Monongahela river, built "on the shifting sands," practically without foundation, of the old-fashioned brand of plaster concrete, in 1848, has lasted 60 years, how much longer than 100 years will the modern locks, of improved foundations, construction and material last?

That is what Major H. C. Newcomer and his subordinates in the United States Engineer's office are asking, with a pardonable amount of pride, in connection with the investigation that has resulted in the condemnation of old Lock No. 1. The slackwater improvement at No. 1 lock was the first to be built in the Ohio, Allegheny or Monongahela.

As stated in Washington dispatches Chairman Burton of the Rivers and Harbors Committee of Congress has virtually agreed to recommend to Secretary Taft an allotment of $258,000 for the rebuilding of No. 1 lock immediately, it being shown in the special report from Major Newcomer that the old inside lock—the larger one at that point—is undermined at its base until it is in a condition to crumble or move out at any time.

While the larger lock at that point has been closed for inspection the traffic has been handled through the smaller lock, which is utterly inadequate to care for the tonnage during busy months. The appropriation asked is to rebuild the small lock to a larger size, after which it can be used until the regular appropriation is secured to rebuild the larger one—the one now under serious condition.

"The smaller lock, the one which it is proposed to first rebuild," said Major Newcomer yesterday, "was the first one put in by the Monongahela Navigation Company. It was completed in 1844. The navigation company soon found it too small for the traffic 64 years ago, however, and in 1848 completed the larger one, which is now in bad shape. Considering its faulty construction its life of 60 years is remarkable.

"If we do not secure permission to rebuild the smaller lock, in anticipation of the imminent collapse of the larger one, Monongahela river commerce will be tremendously handicapped. It would be almost an impossibility to handle the tonnage of the river through the smaller lock in the busy seasons. If we secure the necessary permission from Congress and the War Department we will try to rebuild the lock before the close of the year."

The smaller lock is 50x158; the larger one 56x216. The plans call for the rebuilding of both to the new standard size, 56x360.

STORE NEWS

Some news this week that ought to interest you. Part of it news about Spring goods that you will want to see and buy. Part of it about goods that we want to get rid of. Because of the price you will want to see these also. Also, an invitation for you to come and see this store and the goods we have here. An invitation for you to make this store your own home store.

The New Suits.

Let's suppose that you have decided to buy a new Spring suit this Spring. Then suppose that some told you that for $25.00 some particular store was showing a line of suits that was beyond the ordinary in style and material and fit of the garments, told you that that particular store had put forth extra efforts to have in this $25.00 assortment better and prettier suits than you could buy elsewhere in this vicinity, and still further told you that because of certain good and sufficient reasons this particular store could afford to sell you suits on a closer margin than any other store in this vicinity. If some friend in whose judgment you had confidence told you these facts you'd be interested enough to go and look for yourself, would you not? How about it, though, when you read statements like these in an advertisement? Have you enough confidence in this store to know that when we make statements like these about our suits, that we have the suits here to make good every statement we make about them? That's one reason why we so often ask you in our advertisements to make this store your own home store. Then you'll rely on us so many others on every statement this store makes.

New Hosiery.

Plain black stockings for ladies. Onyx brand have some new numbers out this spring. Stockings to sell at 25 and 50 cents the Pair. Plain black cotton and lisle stockings that are better values than we have had to show for these prices.

New Ginghams.

Imported ginghams at 25 cents the yard. Prettiest patterns that we ever had to show. Patterns that you will be sure to like. Fashion has decreed that this is to be a gingham year and that means that later on some patterns will be scarce. Good idea to see these now.

Swiss Curtains at $1 the Pair.

Showing this week two neat patterns in these at $1.00 the pair. Dainty and neat, made of good quality swiss, and well made. You'd expect to pay at least a half a dollar more for these.

Carpets and Rugs.

Time almost to commence thinking and planning about that new carpet. Better keep Stinson carpets in your thoughts this Spring. Better come here and take a look at the patterns we have and let us figure with you on the probable cost of your carpets. If we can save you some money we want your carpet business. Think we are entitled to it if that is so.

Misses' Coats.

Still some left and all of them are on the table in the cloak room at $5.00. If the size you want is there you couldn't find a bigger bargain for $5.00.

VALUATIONS IN UNIONTOWN.

First National Bank Building is Down for $300,000, an Increase of $50,000 Over the Figure Set Last Year. Some Statistics of Assessors.

Special to The Courier

UNIONTOWN Feb 20—William J Ruble, John S Ritenour and I F Gray, the County Auditors, are getting along nicely with their work and notwithstanding some unexpected delays on account of sickness they are likely to get through with the official inspection of the accounts of 1907 in about the usual time While most of the time so far has been spent on the accounts of the Commissioners considerable work has been done on the books of the Sheriff The experience of the past two years has been of considerable value to the Board in their present audit, and the services of their attorney is but seldom needed While the current expenses of the county as shown by the books of the Commissioners, have not been made public, they are said to be considerably in excess of those of other years on account of the purchase of the Connellsville New Haven bridge This one order reduced the general fund of the county $160 000

Notwithstanding the extra heavy expense, there is still plenty of money in the treasury and it is believed that there will be no occasion to raise the tax rate which has been but four mills for several years Property of all kinds has so enhanced in value during the past few years that it is believed the present millage will be sufficient for all purposes notwithstanding the fact that the coal and coke companies had their combined acreage reduced about 8 000 at the last triennial assessment by reason of their operations

In the matter of taxes Uniontown of course leads every other district in the county even though the bulk of the properties is assessed at less than one-half of their actual value But the millage for borough purposes is much higher as a result of the low valuations There seems to be a well founded belief that all properties should be assessed at their market value and rates reduced accordingly Some of the more important valuations for taxable purposes in the County Seat are given below

In the First ward the First National Bank building which is a little community within itself, is now assessed at $300,000 which is $50 000 higher than for the first years of its existence The Arch Distilling Company is down for $20,000 the Labor Brewing Company plant at $50 000 the West End Theatre at $15 000 and the Hygeia plant at $22,000 Other heavy assessments in this ward according to the 1908 returns, on leading business and residence buildings are as follows F T Adams, $12 000 N Brownfield heirs $17 000 Citizens Title & Trust Company, $15 000 Fayette Title & Trust Company, $25 000 C H Gorley $18 500 A D Johnson $31 000, McClelland Leonard $25,000 N W Miller, $25 000 Pittsburg Brewing Company warehouse, etc $10 000, and the B & O $11 000

In the same ward H L Rankin pays tax on $60 000 for his Central hotel while R W Beall contributes on $55 000 for the remodeled Brunswick and George W Lilley on $50 000 for his fine place out West Main street The Strickler-Hess building goes in at $18 000 the Thompson Ruby block at $35 000 the Second National Bank building at $30 000 and the Lafayette hotel of Pat Reagan at $25 000

The values of the other three wards are about in the same proportion In the Fourth T I Leitman has his Morgan hotel assessed at $30 000, the plant of the Fayette Brewing Company is down at $45 000 and the Exchange hotel of D I Johnson at $10 000 The National Bank of Fayette County building is placed at $30 000, the A C Hagan block at $19 000 and the Blackstone law building of Uwing & Mestrezat at $20 000 The local plant of the Pittsburg Brewing Company is assessed at $65 100 the part of the Howell McCrum plant within the borough at $20 000 the effects of the old Columbia Iron & Steel Company at $10 000 and the George G Gans distillery at $15 000

With Florence Davis in "A Question of Husband"

Florence Davis will be seen in a transcription of Alfred Sardous celebrated French comedy entitled Divorcons at the Soisson Theatre on Tuesday February 25th Florence Davis title for this really great comedy is "A Question of Husbands" which by the way is very appropriate

The gowns worn by Florence Davis in the presentation of the drama A Question of Husbands are artistic illustrations of what can be done in the dress making field of elegance Laugh as the men may at fashion and art in gowns and feminine headgear those masculine critics are only too apt and too quick to notice any imperfections in what a woman may wear especially if that woman would be good looking though had not so good a close look by an impartial critic obtain them

Miss Davis has not only good looks but also has the means wherewith to make the two in to one effect In other words she uses her own capital to dress herself and her company in a manner befitting the equipment of the play She has her own trains in her own equipage and her own scenery These facts are known and should not in any way depend on such help as may be obtained along the line of theatricals

Letter to Robert Felty,

Connellsville Pa

Dear Sir The hardest climate for paint is Florida and Devoe is the longest wearing paint in that State

D G Smith of Madison Fla says I painted my mother's house Devoe 11 years ago, and today it looks better than other houses in town that were painted with other paint 3 or 4 years ago three or four and eleven

This shows two things (1) the low standard of paint in that part of the country and (2) that Devoe is the paint that wears

It doesn't show the whole fact which is Devoe is the paint that takes least gallons to do the job makes first cost by a ratio of 2 to 3 2 to 1 2 to 3 2 to 1 for the job

Smith wasn't thinking about the cost of the job it was done a long time ago He was thinking how well the house looks after 11 years of wear in that hot climate and how long it will be before painting again

Yours truly

RAILROADS WARNED

That Threatened Wage Reduction Must be Justified by Public Opinion.

PEOPLE TO BE KEPT INFORMED

President Asks Interstate Commerce Commission to Prepare Data Which Will Be Available in Case Industrial Armies Call for Mediation

Washington Feb 20—Serious industrial disputes in prospect were in the mind of President Roosevelt when he wrote a letter to the Interstate commerce commission just made public. He says that information has reached him that on account of the enactment of drastic laws by the congress and by various state legislatures it is regarded as necessary by railroad companies to reduce the pay of employes. He points out that under the law either party may demand the services of the chairman of the Interstate commerce commission and of the commissioner of labor as a board of conciliation. He suggests therefore that the Interstate commerce commission make such an investigation as will enable it to furnish data concerning wage conditions on various railroads as may relate, directly or indirectly to the possibly impending controversy. The president's letter follows

"I am informed that a number of railroad companies have served notice of a proposed reduction of wages on their employes. One of them the Louisville and Nashville in announcing the reduction states that the disastrous laws inimical to the interests of the railroads that have in the past year or two been enacted by congress and the state legislatures are largely and chiefly responsible for the conditions requiring the reduction.

Public is Interested.

"Under such circumstances it is possible that the public may soon be confronted by serious industrial disputes and the law provides that in such cases either party may demand the services of your chairman and of the commissioner of labor as a board of mediation and conciliation. These reductions in wages may be warranted or they may not. As to this the public, which is a vitally interested party can form no judgment without a more complete knowledge of the essential facts and real merits of the case than it now has or than it can possibly obtain from the special pleadings certain to be put forth by each side in case their dispute should bring about serious interruption to traffic.

"If the reduction in wages is due to natural causes the loss of business being such that the burden should be, and is distributed between capitalist and wageworker the public should know it. If it is caused by legislation the public and congress should know it and if it is caused by misconduct in the past financial or other operations of any railroad then everybody should know it especially if the excuse of unfriendly legislation is advanced as a method of covering up past business misconduct by the railroad managers or as a justification for failure to treat fairly the wage earning employes of the company.

Order Will Be Maintained

"Moreover an industrial conflict between a railroad corporation and its employes offers peculiar opportunities to any small number of evil disposed persons to destroy life and property and foment public disorder. Of course if life, property and public order are endangered prompt and drastic measures for their protection become the first plain duty. All other issues then become subordinate to the preservation of the public peace and the real merits of the original controversy are necessarily lost from view. This vital consideration should be ever kept in mind by all law abiding and far sighted members of labor organizations.

"It is sincerely to be hoped therefore that any wage controversy that may arise between the railroads and their employes may find a peaceful solution through the methods of conciliation and arbitration provided by congress which have proven so effective during the past year. To this end the commission should be in a position to have available for any board of conciliation or arbitration relevant data pertaining to such carriers as may become involved in industrial disputes. Should conciliation fail to effect a settlement and arbitration be rejected accurate information should be available in order to develop a properly informed public opinion.

"I therefore ask you to make such investigation both of your records and by any other means at your command as will enable you to furnish data concerning such conditions obtaining on the Louisville and Nashville and any other roads as may relate directly or indirectly to the real merits of the possibly impending controversy."

TO BAR INTOXICANTS

Pullman Company, It Is Reported Will Take Such Action Soon

Intoxicants have become unpopular with the Pullman Palace Car Company as well as with the railroads, and in a short time the inebriating glass may be barred from the hundreds of comfort cars traveling over the United States. The reason assigned for this contemplated action is not one of moral reform but has to its aim the physical betterment of the employes as is the motive with the railroads.

But the Pullman Company it is said, has found trouble through local option legislation and would avoid it in the future by discontinuing its traffic in liquor.

ECZEMA PATIENT LOST HOPE

But Ordinary Oil of Wintergreen Quickly Cured This Woman

After treating for Eczema with six different doctors Mrs F A Wheeler of Wellington Ohio was completely cured by some vegetable oil of wintergreen. This oil alone could not cure but she says this oil compounded with glycerine etc, in D D D Prescription.

"I feel it my duty to tell what a wonderful cure D D D has been for me" writes Mrs Wheeler. "I was cured a year ago last fall but did not write because I was not sure the cure would be permanent. I had doctored with six doctors and they all said it was seldom if ever a case like mine was cured. I think I used only four bottles of D D D and I am permanently cured. If I ever needed D D D again I would be willing to pay $5.00 a bottle."

This remedy and also D D D Soap are sold by us and recommended because we know their merits. We certainly would not recommend them to our neighbors and patrons if we did not positively know of the wonderful results that D D D brings in all kinds of eczematous diseases. The Nerve of Foley

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

Copyright, 1900, by Frank H Spearman

"Get out of this cab"

'I'll promise you you'll never get out of it alive, my buck, if you ever get into it again!" cried Cameron swinging down Nicholson followed, muttering, angrily I hoped we were out of the scrape but to my consternation, Foley picking up his oil can got right down behind them and began filling his cups without the least attention to anybody

Nicholson sprang on him like a tiger. The onslaught was so sudden that they had him under their feet in a minute I jumped down, and Ben Buckley the conductor, came running up Between us we gave the little fellow a life He squirmed out like a cat and backed in sturdily up against the tender

'One at a time and come on!" he cried hotly "If it's ten to one and on a man's back at that, we'll do it different." With a quick, peculiar movement of his arm he drew a pistol and pointing it squarely at Cameron, cried, 'Get back '

I caught a flash of his eye through the blood that streamed down his face I wouldn't have given a switch key for the life of the man who crowded him at that minute But just then Lancaster came up, and before the crowd realized it we had Foley protesting and griffy, back in the cab again

'For heaven's sake, pull out of this before there's bloodshed Foley' I cried, and, nodding to Buckley, Foley opened the choker

It was a night run and a new track to him I tried to fire and pilot both but after Foley suggested once or twice that if I would tend to the coal he would tend to the curves I let him find them and he found them all I thought, before we got to Athens He took big chances in his running, but there was a superb confidence in his bursts of speed which marked the fast runner and the experienced one

At Athens we had barely two hours to rest before doubling back I was never tired in my life till I struck the pillow that night but before I got it warm the caller routed me out again The eastbound flier was on time or nearly so and when I got into the cab for the run back Foley was just coupling on

'Did you get a nap?" I asked as we pulled out

'No we slipped an eccentric coming up and I've been under the engine ever since Say she's a bird isn't she? She's all right I couldn't run her coming up, but I've touched up her valve motion a bit, and I'll get action on her as soon as it's daylight."

"Don't mind getting action on my account, Foley, I'm shy on life insurance"

He laughed

"You're safe with me I never killed man, woman or child in my life When I do, I quit the cab Give her plenty of diamonds if you please" he added, letting her out full

He gave me the ride of my life but I hated to show scare he was so coolly audacious himself We had but one stop—for water—and after that all down grade We bowled along as easy as ninepins, but the pace was a hair raiser After we passed Attica we never touched anything but the high joints The long heavy train behind us flew round the bluffs once in awhile like the tail of a very capricious kite yet somehow, and that's an engineer's magic, she always lit on the steel

Day broke ahead, and between breaths I caught the glory of a sunrise on the plains from a locomotive cab window When the smoke of the McCloud shops stained the horizon remembering the ugly threats of the strikers I left my seat to speak to Foley

I think you'd better swing off when you slow up for the yards and cut across to the roundhouse I cried getting close to his ear for we were on terrific speed He looked at me inquiringly 'In that way you won't run into Cameron and his crowd at the depot," I added "I can stop her all right."

He didn't take his eyes off the track 'I'll take the train to the platform," said he

'Isn't that a crossing cut ahead?" he added suddenly as we swung round a hill west of town

"Yes, and a bad one"

He reached for the whistle and gave the long warning screams I set the bell ringer and stooped to open the furnace door to cool the fire, when—chug'

I flew up against the water gauges like a coupling pin The monster engine reared right up on her head Scrambling to my feet, I saw the new man clutching the air lever with both hands, and every wheel on the train was screeching I jumped to his side and looked over his shoulder On the crossing just ahead a big white horse dragging a buggy plunged and reared frantically Standing on the buggy seat a baby boy clung bewildered to the lazyback—not another soul in sight All at once the horse swerved sharply back The buggy lurched half over The lines seemed to be caught around one wheel The little fellow clung on, but the crazy horse, instead of running, began a hornpipe right between the deadly rails

I looked at Foley in despair From the monstrous quivering leaps of the great engine I knew the drivers were in the clutch of the mighty air brake but the resistless momentum of the train was none the less sweeping us down at deadly speed on the baby Between the two tremendous forces the locomotive shivered like a gigantic beast I sprang back in horror but the little man at the throttle throwing the last ounce of steam on the burning wheels leaped from his box with a face transfigured

"Take her!" he cried and never shifting his eyes from the cut he shot through his open window and darted like a cat along the running board to the front

Not a hundred feet separated us from the crossing I could see the baby's curls blowing in the wind The horse suddenly leaped from across the track to the side of it That left the buggy quartering with the rails but not twelve inches clear The way the wheels were clumped a single step ahead would throw the hind wheels into the train a step backward would shove the front wheels into it It was appalling

Foley, clinging with one hand to a headlight bracket dropped down on the steam chest and swung far out As the cowcatcher shot past Foley's long arm dipped into the buggy like the sweep of a connecting rod and caught the boy by the breeches The impetus of our speed threw the child high in the air but Foley's grip was on the little overalls, and as the youngster bounded back he caught it close I saw the horse give a leap It sent the hind wheels into the corner of the baggage car There was a crash like the report of a hundred rifles and the buggy flew in the air The big horse was thrown fifty feet but Foley, with a great light in his eyes and the baby boy in his arm crawled laughing into the cab

I thinking he would take the engine again I tried to take the baby Take it Well, I think not'

Hi there buster' shouted the little engineer wildly that's a corking pair of breeches on you, son I caught the kid right by the seat of the pants,' he called over to me laughing hysterically Heavens little man I wouldn't've struck you for all the gold in Alaska I've got a chunk of a boy in Reading as much like him as a twin brother Why what were you doing all alone in that buggy Whose kid do you suppose it is? What's your name, son?

Foley dropped down on the steam chest and swung far out

At the question I looked at the child again and I started I had certainly seen him before and had I not his father's features were too well stamped on the childish face for me to be mistaken

'Foley" I cried amazed, that's Cameron's boy Little Andy"

He tossed the baby the higher, he looked the happier, he shouted the louder

'The deuce it is' Well son, I'm mighty glad of it' And I certainly was glad—mighty glad as Foley expressed it—when we pulled up at the depot and I saw Andy Cameron with a wicked look pushing to the front through the threatening crowd With an ugly growl he made for Foley

I've got business with you now'—

"I've got a little with you son retorted Foley stepping leisurely down from the cab 'I struck a buggy back here at the first cut and I hear it was yours' Cameron's eyes began to bulge 'I guess the outfit's damaged some all but the boy Here kid' he added turning for me to hand him the child, 'here's your dad'

The instant the youngster caught sight of his parent he set up a yell Foley laughing passed him into his astonished father's arms before the latter could say a word Just then a boy running and squeezing through the crowd cried to Cameron that his horse had run away from the house with the baby in the buggy and that Mrs Cameron was having a fit

Cameron stood till one daft and the boy catching sight of the baby that instant panted and stated in an hysterical state

Andy' said I getting down and laying a hand on his shoulder 'if these fellows want to kill this man let them do it alone you'd better keep out Only this minute he has saved your boy's life'

The sweat stood out on the big engineer's forehead like dew I told the story Cameron tried to speak but he tried again and again before he could [illegible]

Mighty [illegible] you've been through with [illegible] yourself you know what it means don't you But if you've got a mighty [illegible] he gripped the boy tighter to his bosom "I have partner three of 'em'

'Then you know what this means' said Andy huskily putting out his hand to Foley He gripped the little man's flat hard and turning walked away through the crowd

Sort how it put a damper on the boys But Nicholson was about the only man let who knew it If he wanted to [illegible] Foley slinging his hose over his shoulder walked up to Bill and tapped him on the shoulder

Strange said he quietly would you oblige me with a box of to bacco

Bill glared at him an instant but Foley's nerve won

The big engineer shot his hand into his pocket took it out fell hurriedly in the offered pouch and with none confusion acknowledged he was about Foley's accuracy intervened with a slab and the three men fell at once to talking about the weather

A long time after I met some of the striking engineers were taken back, but none of those who had been guilty of actual violence This lasted Andy Cameron who though not worse than many others had been less prudent and while we all felt sorry for him after the other boys had gone to work I master was positively and positively refused to reinstate him

Several times though I saw Foley and Cameron in conclave, and one day up came Foley to the superintendent's office leading little Andy in his overalls by the hand They went into Lancaster's office together and the door was shut for a long time

When they came out little Andy had a piece of paper in his hand

Hang on to it son cautioned Foley 'but you can show it to Mr Reed if you want to'

The young lad handed me the paper It was an order directing Andrew Cameron to report to the master mechanic for service in the morning

I happened over at the roundhouse one day nearly a year later when Foley was showing Cameron a new engine just in from the east The two men were in some great trouble that day they fell to talking over the strike

There was never but one thing I really held up against this man' said Cameron to me

What that' asked Foley

Why the way you stole I had pistol in my face the first time we took out No 1

I never said my pistol to your face Cameron he [illegible] his hand into his pocket [illegible] I knew [illegible] right in [illegible] I felt [illegible] I never [illegible]

Came [illegible] then he turned to me with a tired expression

I've seen a good many men, with a good many kinds of nerve, but I'll be splintered if ever I saw any one man with all kinds of nerve till I struck Foley'

CHANCE FOR CANNON.

Speaker Challenged to Pass Anti-Injunction and Employer's Liability Act.

KNOX OFFERS POSTAL BANK BILL

Introduces Measure Providing for Consummation of Plans of Postmaster General Meyer—Children Ten Years of Age May Become Depositors.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The bill providing for the taking of the thirteenth census occupied most of the time of the session of the house of representatives. Progress with it was slow because of numerous amendments offered and rejected. The bill was amended in one particular, however, and that was limiting the census to the mainland of the United States, Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico.

Previous to the consideration of the census bill Mr. Henry of Texas, taking his cue from Mr. Boutell's remarks lauding the speaker, urged the Republicans to bring in an employers' liability bill and a bill requiring notice before the issuance of federal injunctions.

Mr. Henry said that if Mr. Boutell's statements were sincere and truly represented the speaker's attitude toward the toilers of the country the speaker would give the weight of his influence to much-needed legislation. Mr. Henry disavowed any intention to detract from the praise which had been accorded Mr. Cannon, but he said there were several matters that could be enacted into law within the next few days or weeks, "if the speaker would but respond to the demand of the country and the demand of the Democrats of the house." One of these was the employers' liability bill, which, he said, the president had urged in his recent "pyrotechnical message." The other was the bill requiring notice before injunctions shall be issued by federal judges. "One of your candidates for president, Secretary Taft," he said, "has declared in favor of it and the president himself has asked congress to pass it."

Mr. Henry asserted that if Speaker Cannon wished to reflect the views of miners and toilers of the country he would aid in passing these measures, and to that end Mr. Henry pledged the solid Democratic vote of the house.

Senator Knox introduced a bill to establish a system of postal savings banks. The bill embodies the plan outlined by Postmaster General Meyer in his annual report and which he has advocated in public addresses as being calculated to encourage economy and thrift and to afford a place of deposit free from any possibility of doubt or suspicion for vast sums of money which might be otherwise hoarded and kept out of circulation through ignorance or lack of confidence.

The bill authorizes the postmaster general to establish a system of postal savings banks comprised of such money order offices as he may designate for that purpose. Accounts may be opened and deposits made in any postal savings bank established under this act by any person of the age of ten years or over in his own name, by a married woman in her own name and free from any control or interference by her husband, by a trustee as such on behalf of another person, by a parent, guardian or other person for the benefit of a child under ten years of age, or by any charitable or benevolent society or association.

"Provided that no person or organization shall have more than one postal savings account, except that a trustee, parent, guardian or other person may have an individual account and an account in his representative capacity for each person or child for whom he may be entitled to open an account."

The bill further provides that such postal banks shall receive deposits of money in even dollars, with $1 as a minimum, and postmasters are required to make daily reports to the postmaster general, who will forward to the depositor a written acknowledgment of its receipt. Deposits are not liable to seizure or detention under legal processes against the depositor, and such funds are exempt from taxation.

Interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum is allowed depositors, and the postmaster general is authorized to place the money deposited in postal savings banks in national banks at a rate of interest satisfactory to the secretary of the treasury. These national depositories are to be in the immediate vicinity of postal banks, from which the money is drawn, as a safeguard against centralization of currency and as a means of facilitating the return of money to the channels of trade. National banks are prohibited from receiving any compensation for cashing or collecting any checks or any other service in connection with postal banks. Withdrawals of deposits may be made at any time subject to certain regulations. The bill carries an appropriation of $100,000 to give it effect.

President Roosevelt was overridden by the house committee on coinage weights and measures when by unanimous vote it was agreed to report favorably the bill requiring the restoration to gold and silver coins of the national motto, "In God We Trust." During the discussion Representative Knowland of California, being in a facetious mood, moved that the committee further recommend the placing upon all clearing house certificates the Biblical inscription, "I know that my redeemer liveth."

Secretary Taft will arrive in Washington today to appear before the house committee on insular affairs in regard to conditions in the Philippines. Tomorrow he will give a public hearing to persons interested in the controversy over the raising of the bridges over the Allegheny river at Pittsburg.

ROOSEVELT A HEAVYWEIGHT

Ex-Prize Fighter Donovan Says He Belongs In That Class.

New York, Feb. 20.—Prof. Mike Donovan, one-time champion pugilist, has no sympathy with the men who are trying to make out that President Roosevelt is not good with the boxing gloves. Nobodyy can make Donovan believe that the energetic executive is not in a class by himself at the present time. And Mike ought to know, because he has put the gloves on with the president twenty-three times in the white house study.

"I was nearly 'all in' every time," he said. "The president can stand more violent exercise than the average athlete, and when it comes to using his 'mitts'—well, I for one will never take any chances with him. Every blow he lands hurts. In action he is a regular thrashing machine and it is hard to get out of his way.

"It is true that Mr. Roosevelt is a little near sighted. If that were not so, I don't believe I would go near the white house, because it would be all right and to the hospital for Donovan. Although he is near sighted, the president is better than the amateur boxer. He is one of the cleverest big men I ever saw.

"The president is always on the alert and he learned more about the methods of protecting himself when he was police commissioner than at any other time in his life."

KITTY IN A LAWSUIT

Pet Feline Stirs Up Deal of Trouble, Then Disappears.

New York, Feb. 20.—The appellate division of the supreme court has been called upon to decide the ownership of a cat. It seems that the cat originally belonged to an actress, who, when she left town, turned the animal over to the restaurant where she was in the habit of taking her meals. The restaurant belonged to Paul Mortimer Brown and in his employ as cashier was Miss Louise Hall, who was friendly with the woman who owned the cat. Some time after the cat arrived at the restaurant Miss Hall married Max Doring. They went to Germany on a wedding tour and when they returned the former cashier remembered the cat and decided that it would be an adornment to her home. So Doring went to the restaurant and carried the cat away. Brown promptly had Doring arrested, but he was discharged and the next day brought suit against Brown for $10,000 for false arrest. A jury awarded him $700 and the case goes to the appellate division on an appeal by Brown. Brown says he will carry the case through all the courts in the land before he will pay the $700. In the meantime the cat has disappeared.

CEREAL NOT SAUSAGE

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 20. — Circuit Judge Wiest in an opinion holds that the use of cereal and water in sausage is an adulteration of the product and brings it within the scope of the state pure food law prohibiting adulterations. The decision was made in the application of Armour & Co. for an injunction to restrain the state dairy and food department from interfering with the sale of their sausage because cereal and water are used in its manufacture.

Jude Wiest said: "With the general public of this generation largely reared on farms and in small villages and remembering homemade sausage, there is no occasion to look at a dictionary to define sausage. The common definition is that it is composed of chopped meats seasoned and the definition must prevail as against a manufacturer's process of adding cereals and water."

Desire Bryan Delegation.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 20.—A campaign fund of $3,000 for the election of a Bryan delegation from Pennsylvania to the Democratic national convention at Denver was raised at a meeting here of the executive committee of the Bryan Democratic league of Pennsylvania. The committee also decided to put up candidates for national delegates in every one of the thirty-two congressional districts of the state and to organize leagues to help these candidates. The meeting was attended by thirty members, including State Treasurer Berry, who will probably be one of the delegates-at-large.

Miss Sterling Dismissed.

New Philadelphia, O., Feb. 20.—Trustees of the Tuscarawas county children's home briefly investigated the charges against Miss Clara Sterling, who drove a tack through six-year-old Sampson Fowler's tongue, and ordered Miss Sterling dismissed from the home. The board had not had time to adjourn when the county board of charities appeared unexpectedly at the home and began separate investigation of charges anonymously made that the children have not been getting proper food.

MRS. THAW IN DOUBT.

Harry's Mother Said to Discredit Evelyn's Denial of Recent Dinner.

URGES SON TO SUE FOR DIVORCE

But Harry, With Foolish Loyalty, Will Not Consent to Such Proceedings. Mother Says Evelyn's Denials Have Lost Their Weight.

New York, Feb. 20.—A correspondent asked Evelyn Nesbit Thaw "is any proceeding under discussion for the annulment of the marriage between you and your husband?"

"I have already denied that," said young Mrs. Thaw. "You can print anything you please."

Mrs. Thaw remained in her home, 440 Park avenue, while, between New York, Pittsburg and Matteawan, hage waged discussion over the question whether the time had come for proceedings which would eliminate her from the Thaw family.

Harry K. Thaw is the stumbling block in the way of his mother who desires to have his marriage dissolved after his wife telling her life story on the witness stand has materially helped to save him from the electric chair.

Mrs. William Thaw is living in seclusion at the Hotel Lorraine. She says that she has told Harry that he should divorce his wife, but his loyalty remains unshaken.

"Up to now," said Mrs. Thaw, "Harry has refused to listen to the counsel I have given him. Until he dies he must bear the annoyance of such acts as Monday night's dinner at the Cafe Boulevard. I am very sorry for my poor boy. He is brave, but, oh, so very foolish!

"I have read Evelyn's denial of the report that she was at the Cafe Boulevard Monday night with a man named Thomas. It sounds so much like other denials she has made.

"I have decided not to give Harry any more advice in his domestic affairs. It is probably best to let those interested settle their own affairs."

When this was called to Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's attention she uttered an indescribable little sound of disgust.

"You will have to see Mr. O'Reilly about that," she said at last. "You know he has ordered me never to speak to newspaper men—I mean he has advised me not to speak to them."

Matteawan, N. Y., Feb. 20.—Harry K. Thaw denied the reports that he has begun or is about to begin proceedings to secure a divorce from his wife, Evelyn Thaw. A letter was sent to Thaw at the state hospital for the insane asking him to reply to the following question: "Have you begun or are you about to begin divorce proceedings against Evelyn?" Thaw returned the answer, "No."

13 TRAINS SNOWBOUND

Steam and Electric Traffic in Michigan Much Hindered.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 20.—At least thirteen passenger trains poked their pilots into impervious snowdrifts throughout Michigan and reports indicate that some of these trains are still snowbound. Traffic was completely abandoned on the Kalamazoo, Lake Shore and Chicago railroad and on the Port Austin division of the Pere Marquette only one train was sent over the line. The Allegan division of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern was completely blocked as was also the Midland-Bay City-Vassar division of the Michigan Central. The westbound Wolverine flyer on the Michigan Central buried itself near Comstock in a drift out of which five locomotives were unable to release it. But the passengers were transferred to another train and were carried past the drift on the easthound tracks, while 100 men were set at work with shovels to dig out the snowbound flyer. Other trains were snowbound during the day near Ionia, Lottieville, Ind., Deckerville, Owendale, Allegan, Sheffield, Kalamazoo, Adrian and Munger. Interurban electric line traffic was thoroughly demoralized and was also the rural route postal delivery.

In Battle Creek snowdrifts are piled ten feet high on Main street. There are ten passengers on the Grand Trunk train snowbound at Sheffield, but they are in no danger of lacking warmth or food.

Good Bowling at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Feb. 20.—Some remarkably good bowling was witnessed in the two-men team matches at the American bowling congress. The best score made was that of L. Bowning of St. Paul, who made sixteen straight strikes. Seven were made in the second game of his trial with his partner, H. F. Mattak, also of St. Paul, and nine in his third game. His highest score for one game was 272 in the third game, which is five pins less than the highest score made in one game in this tournament. Bowning and Mattak finished the three games with a total score of 1,229 and took sixth place in the two-men class.

Find $750,000 in Gold.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 20.—A private dispatch received here from Kamenetz in Podolia, reports the discovery in an ancient quarry of a quantity of gold contained in thirteen casks and estimated to be worth $750,000. It is thought that this treasure was hidden in this quarry centuries ago at the time of the Tartar division.
